Parental Perspectives on Screen Time

What Parents Think vs. What Teens Do

Survey Comparison

We surveyed both 150 teens and 50 of their parents. Disconnect is significant: parents estimate 2.8 hours/day, teens report 4.7 hours/day. Parents think 32% is educational, teens say 67% is.

Parental Strategies

Time limits (62%), content monitoring (48%), co-viewing (24%), discussing content (38%), complete restriction (12%), open access (8%).

Recommendations

Parents should engage with their teen's digital interests, not restrict them. Co-viewing increases trust. Setting expectations together works better than rules.
